Jacques Robert Charity Draw: The University of Ottawa Heart Institute

Our second Jacques Robert Charity Draw occurred on June 29th, 2012. From the multitude of ballots submitted by our clients, "University of Ottawa Heart Institute" was picked. Our office donated $500.00 to them.

The University of Ottawa Heart Institute is Canada's largest cardiovascular health centre which is "dedicated to understanding, treating and preventing heart diseases." For some additional information about this charity, you can visit their website by clicking here.

Four times this year, (in March, June, September and December 2012) our office will donate $500 (CAN) to a local Canadian registered charity.

When our clients attend our office to sign for any legal services we've provided to them (whether buying, selling, refinancing, etc), they will have the opportunity to enter their favorite registered Canadian charity into our quarterly draw for $500.

The charity must be one of the numerous registered charities appearing on the Canada Revenue Agency website.

The draw results will be announced on:

*Friday March 30th, 2012 (for the period of January 1-March 30th, 2012)

*Friday June 29th, 2012 (for the period of April 1st- June 30th, 2012)

*September 28th, 2012 (for the period of July 1st - September 31st, 2012)

*Friday December 21, 2012 (for the period of October 1 - December 31, 2012)

The draw results will be published on our website, newsletter, and posted in our office. The name of the individual who completed the ballot will not be shared publicly.

We will also contact the individual who completed the ballot and the charity directly.

A Technology Update

Passwords: "Secure Passwords: The Rules Have Changed" was published in the May/June 2012 issue of Probate & Property (Vol. 26, No. 3). In this article the authors indicate that a report was recently published by the Georgia Institute of Technology in which they recommend that passwords should be 12-characters long.

In fact, their research found that it took cybercriminals 2 hours to crack 8-character passwords as opposed to 17,134 years to crack 12-character passwords! They concluded that "12-character passwords should be the de factor standard we all use."

The article also reminds us to use PINs on our smartphones, cease writing passwords on sticky notes which we leave on our monitors or in our desk drawers.

The authors go on to recommend some ways to remember our passwords which are becoming increasing long and numerous. Among others they recommend using "full sentences or passphrases as passwords", using IronKeys ("which includes a password "vault" application that remembers all the characters for you.") or using an application such as eWaller (www.iliiumsoft.com) "which store your passwords in encrypted format and allow you to sync access to it from multiple devices, including smartphones."

In conclusion, the authors remind us to "take passwords seriously."

Facebook: LawPRO recently published an article "Is Facebook secretly sharing what you are reading and watching?" The article contains some useful information and tips to help you protect your privacy all the while benefitting from this social networking site. The article is available online here.

LinkedIN: An article that was recently published in The Lawyers Weekly (June 8, 2012 edition) "Use LinkedIN to attract new clients" lists ways in which lawyers can use this networking website to attract new clients. These tips are easily transferable to any discipline.

Among others, the author proposes that a profile be set up using your most recent professional photograph. The article further proposes to add all your current and past clients to your network in addition to everyone from your professional contact list. This is a great way for new clients to see what people are saying about you in addition to keeping up to date with your clients and colleagues. The article goes on to suggest that you should ask for recommendations, join groups to raise your profile, and add your linkedIN address to your profile, e-mail signature and website.

In addition to these, the author, Mr. Gary Mitchell, proposes that you should research your target audience by "searching for people using the names of the companies you want to target as the keyword. It will show you the list of people at those companies that have a profile. This is a great way for you to identify the people you need to build relationships with. Find out what groups they belong to and join them and begin to offer valuable and appropriate content to get noticed."

"Once you have made the initial effort of creating your profile," the author says, "making the most of your investment will require you to spend at least 10 minutes a day managing it."
